Judge Linebarger Lectures on China

"Is it worth while for us to neglect the opportunity to identify ourselves with the oldest and most intelligent people of the world?" asked Judge Paul Linebarger in his address on "The Modern History of China," before the Swisher History Club Tuesday evening, March 14.

As former U. S. judge in the Philippines, legal advisor to the founder of modern China, and at present legal advisor to the Chinese government, Judge Linebarger drew on his vast knowledge and deep understanding of the far-eastern race to outline the political, economic, and cultural conditions of China today. He also gave a minute biography of China's recent great national leader, Sun Yat Sen.

The University Was Quite Different Discovery of Old Records Reveal

The discovery of two dusty old cases of books and papers by President Marvin and the study of the findings during the past week by Charles E. Merry, assistant comptroller, and Dr. Lowell J. Ragatz, professor of history, has brought to light for the first time the official records of the University from the date of its founding in 1821 to the turn of the century.

Only a few days before the recent fire in the Woodhull building the cases were removed from the basement, where, if they had remained, they would have been completely destroyed.

The complete set of University catalogs, the minutes of the trustees' meetings since 1821, and the bundles of yellow letters found, will serve as source material for a history of the old Columbian College to be written during the next few months by Provost Wilbur.

According to this correspondence, which is both immensely interesting and very humorous, Columbian College was located at Eighteenth street and Columbia road. Luther Rice rode on horseback through Georgia and South Carolina and solicited funds for the new school from faithful Baptists who supported the college as a training place for their young ministers.

Most of the funds came from South

Mintz, Murphy To Meet Boston Team

Nelson, Sherfy, Rice, to De- bate Women From Boston at Theta Delt House

Seymour Mintz and Arthur Murphy will debate a team from Boston University, there, on Wednesday, March 22. They will speak on the negative of the question: "Resolved, That the United States Should Adopt the British System of Radio Control."

Mintz and Murphy are remembered for their work in the fall when they met the Dublin speakers from Trinity College, Ireland, in the public speaking department's annual foreign debate. The men's debate squad is coached by Henry G. Roberts, assistant professor of public speaking.

Marjorie Nelson, Helen Sherfy, and Elizabeth Rice will represent G. W. in a debate against a team from Boston University, at the Theta Delta Chi house, 1714 Rhode Island avenue, Friday, March 24, at 2:30 p. m. "Resolved: That the United States Should Agree to the Cancellation of Inter-Allied War Debts," is the question. George Washington will take the affirmative.

This debate is supervised by the Speakers' Congress and all members of the Congress are expected to attend. It is open to the entire University. Members of Speakers' Congress will be hosts at tea afterward for both teams and guests. Harold F. Harding, assistant professor of public speaking, is in charge of women's debate.

Contest Photographs Will Go On Display

Beginning today and every Tuesday and Friday hereafter until the appearance of The Cherry Tree on the campus on May 1, there will be on display in the photographic case on the bulletin board in Corcoran Hall, one of the actual pictures of the contestants entered by the various sororities of the University in the Cherry Tree beauty contest which was judged by Ronald Colman. Each picture will remain in the case for a period of three days, at the conclusion of which another will be placed on display.

The winners of this contest will be announced in The Cherry Tree when it makes its appearance on the campus, Monday, May 1. While many rumors are being circulated as to the outcome of this contest, students will have an opportunity themselves to view these same pictures that Ronald Colman used in judging the contest and may make their own selections and compare them with those chosen by the film star.

Honorary Frat Will Award Debate Cups

For the fourth successive year two silver loving cups will be awarded to the winning sorority and winning fraternity in the debate contest sponsored annually by Delta Sigma Rho, honorary forensic fraternity.

Letters are being sent out today to all sororities and fraternities setting forth rules of the contest. The questions will not be announced until after all entries are made. Questions for the debaters will be different for men and women.

The comparative ratings of the sororities represented on the Panhellenic Council as announced by the Registrar show a range of only .37 point between high and low averages. Doctor Bartsch Expresses Satisfaction On Results of Expedition in Interview

Greatest Ocean Depth Is Re- corded During Three- Month Voyage

Dr. Paul Bartsch, professor of zoology and curator at the National Museum, declares himself as thoroughly satisfied with the results of his scientific expedition, from which he returned Tuesday. The greatest ocean depths ever recorded, and four truck loads of deep-sea specimens were among the discoveries of the three-month voyage.

"Next year we intend to go back for another four months and carry on the thread of our investigation still further," he added.

"We discovered many new things in every line, made possible by the fact that the region in question had not been worked upon adequately before," said Dr. Bartsch. However, he will not release a description of these discoveries until he is absolutely certain that they are the rare specimens he believes them to be.

Deeply tanned from almost two months' exposure to tropical sun and wind, Dr. Bartsch docked the Caroline at the Navy Yard last Tuesday. Visible evidence of the success of his expedition were the four truck-loads of material, carried from the Caroline to the National Museum. They included bottom and water samples and all animals from protozoa to fish.

With an echo sounding apparatus, furnished by the Navy Department, Dr. Bartsch and his party examined the contour of the bottom of the ocean and found it very rough, ranging from shallow water to 4,400 fathoms (26,400 feet).

To illustrate the delicacy and accuracy of the apparatus, Dr. Bartsch

Floyd Sparks Will Head Junior Prom

New Chairman Appointed to Fill Van Demark's Place Following Resignation

With the news that Floyd Sparks has been appointed to act as chairman of the Junior Prom committee due to the illness and resignation of Grant Van Demark, comes the announcement that the tentative date for the affair has been fixed for May 6.

Immediately after the appointment, negotiations were started for a central working office and to make contacts with leaders such as Ben Bernie, Guy Lombardo, Ted Weems and Benny Meroff with a view toward obtaining a nationally known orchestra for the function.

In an interview, Sparks stated that "the absolute cooperation of every member of the class is necessary if the prom is to be a success. There is no reason why a University of the size and standing of George Washington should not have a Junior Prom."

Weird Play to Be Presented by Group

The eerie suggestion of the supernatural blended with the somber tones of impending disaster, so characteristic of the modern Irish plays, is the keynote of "Will-O'-the-Wisp" by Doris F. Halman, one of the three one-act plays which the Drama Appreciation Club is presenting next month.

Appropriately enough, Blanche Wideman, who plays the part of the old woman who lives in the cottage on the moor, has played the part of Maurya in John Millington Synge's "Riders to the Sea," at Eastern High School.

Jean Burford, who plays the poet's wife, not only looks the part but acts it as well. She has played in Shakespearean comedies at high school.

The mysterious white-faced girl is played by Esther Talley, who took part in "The Patsy," and "Mr. Pim Passes By," at the State Teachers' College in Tennessee.

Faculty Women Give Play for Husbands

The faculty women of The George Washington University last Saturday evening, entertained in Corcoran Hall in honor of faculty men. The new-comer group of the faculty women presented Lady Gregory's one-act play, "Spreading the News." The members of the cast were Mrs. Raymond Smith, Mrs. John Reed, Mrs. Alfred Ennis, Mrs. Errett Albritton, Mrs. John Hanks, Mrs. Dewitt Knowles, Mrs. John McIntire, Mrs. Vincent DuVigneau and Mrs. Herman Kaveler. The play was rehearsed under the direction of Mrs. John Reed.

Miss Anna Pearl Cooper was chairman of the program committee and the hostesses for the evening were: Mrs. Raleigh Gilchrist, Mrs. James Pixlee, Miss Irene Cornwell, Miss Elizabeth Lathrop, Mrs. J. Blaine Gwin, Mrs. George Jenkins and Mrs. Dudley W. Willard. Dr. Robert H. Harmon and Mrs. Harmon, entertained with a group of Irish songs.

Committee Assigns Roles for Cue And Curtain Production

Doris Thomas, Royal Gun- nison Leads, for "The Ro- mantic Young Lady"

After four weeks of debate, argument, and listening to parts read by different members of the cast, the Cue and Curtain casting committee, with the assistance of Constance Connor Brown, director of dramatics, has finally made definite assignments to specific roles for the club's forthcoming production, "The Romantic Young Lady."

A newcomer, Doris Thomas, whose dramatic reputation was partially made in her high school days, will play the lead, Rosario. Betty Rice, who will be remembered for her delightful characterization of the civic leader in "Cock Robin," will take the part of the eccentric old grandmother, Dona Barbarita. Maria Pape, the humorous maid, will be played by Margaret Gilligan, another veteran trouper of the club. The roles of the three brothers, Emilio, Mario, and Pepe will be delineated by Wilburn West, one of the more promising newcomers to George Washington dramatics, Joe Danzansky, star of many humorous roles, and Tom Taylor.

Gunnison Is Unanimous Choice

The male lead, De Cordoba, or "The Apparition," will be played by Royal Gunnison. The choice of Gunnison as lead was unanimous in the opinion of the casting committee and Miss Brown, and Royal's inimitable manner of playing suave, sophisticated parts will undoubtedly make the characterization of De Cordoba one of note. The part of Don Juan, the gay Spanish rake, will be taken by Grant Van Demark, who is expected to make the character a typical one, as only Grant can do.

Both Molyneux, another veteran trouper, will play the role of Amalie, who is an opera singer with a Freudian complex. De Cordoba's secretary, Irene, will be played by Adele Gusack. Karl Gay, who was picked during the first week of casting to play one of the roles, has dropped from the cast because of the pressure of his duties as business manager of the club. Because of this there is one assignment that cannot yet be made, the part of Guillermo, a valet, which will probably be determined next week.

Pi Delta Epsilon, national honorary journalistic fraternity, Wednesday chose Ralph McCoy as vice president to succeed John Vivian, resigned, and elected to membership eight men of The Hatchet and Cherry Tree staffs. To qualify for induction into the fraternity a minimum of two years service on one of the University publications is required.

Those selected for membership follow: Walter Rhinehart, associate editor of The Hatchet, publicity director of the Cherry Tree, and last year editor-in-chief of The Handbook; John E. Busick, sports editor of The Hatchet, a member of the Cherry Tree sports staff, and last year an editor of the Handbook; Everett H. Woodward of The Hatchet sports department; Ralph Given, photographic editor of The Cherry Tree; John Everett of The Hatchet sports department, sports editor of the Cherry Tree; Charles A. Bell, Hatchet society editor and a member of the Cherry Tree staff; Miles Snyder, copy editor of the Cherry Tree, last year a Hatchet reporter; and Robert Herzog, a member of The Hatchet senior staff and the Cherry Tree staff. The possibility of a contest for District high school publications was discussed.

Members of a committee of the Liberal Club, chosen at the last regular business meeting of the organization, Wednesday, March 15, presented a letter to President Roosevelt last Saturday morning protesting against the "cruel and inhuman" treatment of unemployed demonstrators before the District Building on Monday, March 6. The committee, composed of Ed Henry, chairman; Lillian Shulman, Jack Zucker, Jules Braunstein, William Davis and Clarence Durewitz, gave the document, recommending the removal of those responsible for the treatment of the prisoners, to one of the President's secretaries, who promised that it would be brought to Mr. Roosevelt's attention. The communication was signed by the Liberal Club.

It is Up to the People in Activities To Get Together on New Council Plan

Enough interest has been evinced in the plan proposed by Professor Roberts for Student Council reorganization to convince The Hatchet that such a plan is feasible. As was stated last week there is no time to lose if such changes are to be made this year. It remains now for allied activities to form specific groups and take immediate action and work out their own scheme of representation.

It is only natural to suppose there will be conflicts between these groups and the entire scheme is dependent upon the ability of those concerned to iron out their own difficulties. If they do come to terms of agreement between themselves, the scheme will work; if such agreement cannot be reached the entire project may as well be dropped.

The Hatchet suggests that the various activity groups meet in caucus this week and discuss some plan of action. The entire student body will welcome any steps in further development of student government at The George Washington University.

Why Not Let the Carnival Board Put on an All-University Picnic?

Last week it was suggested that there be held in place of the University Carnival, an all-University picnic. The Hatchet was serious in making this recommendation, and feels now that if such a picnic is to be held, no time should be lost in completing arrangements. Why not let the Carnival board put on the picnic? This board was largely representative of the student body and the activities thereof, and The Hatchet feels it would be hard to find a group better equipped to undertake such a project.

It has already been suggested that such picnic be held about the time Student Council elections are over. This would be about two months hence, giving ample time for working out whatever details are necessary to a successful staging of an outdoor affair which might well live long in the memories of many students who may have cause to remember this depression year in other and less pleasant aspects.

A Popularity Contest Is Possible Despite Cancellation of Carnival

What's going to happen to the popularity contest? It was the idea of the Carnival Board that the contest this year should be more of a real contest and less of a money-making affair. To achieve this end, the Carnival Board had proposed that votes in the contest be made to include admittance to the Carnival, thus giving participants in the popularity vote something for their money. The action of the Student Council in abolishing the Carnival has made such procedure impossible. Now it seems to be up to Gate and Key as the original sponsors of the popularity contest to stage such a contest this year as will be in keeping with the ideas of the Student Council concerning the depression and the ability of students to spend money at this time.

Is it not entirely possible that the popularity contest be run in conjunction with Student Council elections which come about the middle of May? Names of candidates who qualify according to specifications to be drawn up by Gate and Key, such as scholarship, activities, and appearance, could easily be included on the ballots at election time. This would insure a really popular selection of a "First Lady of the University," who might well have her coronation ceremonies at an all-University picnic which The Hatchet has suggested to take the place of the Carnival.

About the middle of May would seem to be an ideal time for such picnic considering probable weather, impending exams, and a general height of feeling which should accompany Student Council elections and a culmination of the popularity contest.

Bouquets and Brickbats

Our annoyance for the week is that synthetic beer display in a Seventeenth street jewelry store window... the delightfully prepared amber liquid is topped off by discouragingly obvious and bona fide white cotton!... (the pretzels are genuine)... your own ticket for that femme in charge of the University Lost and Found bureau who loaned out one of the "lost" books which had been "found"... much to the claimant's chagrin... (but the bureau is efficient and of real value)... upon special request we scatter a few posies in the path of American Lit Croissant for his "impersonations"... (they're reported as being more than casually "good")... Mr. Gottlieb of the University Symphony, is back on the job putting the ambitious musicians through their notes... Dr. Bartach besides determining the depth of the ocean returns with four truckloads of "deep-sea specimens"... (and then there's the story of the 40 sharks on a single baited hook)... and here's one for the books... G. W. coeds took a flop in comparative scholastic ratings, while the men increased their averages... (but the "joker" still remains: the women lead the men in scholarship... but then "who cares"?)... men have the doubtful honor of receiving highest grades in Library Science courses... (should be some good material for library Pages)... the March Saturday Review of Literature carries the Canby Commencement speech on Galsworthy... (kind of tough on the G. W. Literary Review, which intended to feature it)... wonder who'll win the prize for the best "House Beautiful" magazine cover... (Illustration Class in Art is working on original designs for a first prize of several hundred smackers)... G. W. will grace the "fronts" of ten coeds who rated major athletic awards at a banquet the other night... (several others crashed through with "minor awards" and numerals)... "as you like it" for the intramural "frat" and "so-so" debate competitions... the Engineers are throwing their fifth annual feed at the exclusive Mayflower despite the "scuse us, Mr. Roosevelt" depression... (how about the annual Law School shindig?... congrats to Alpha Delta Theta, which wins the Panhel scholarship cup... it took made around the Kennedy-Warren tables)... it took "four weeks of argument" to select the Cue and Curtain spring stage show cast... (and at this writing one role is unassigned)... if it takes as long to pull the production through rehearsals as it did to name the cast!... well, there can be no accusations as to a hasty decision!... bouquet to Phi Delta Epsilon (national scribe honor frat) elections... good idea, that of sponsoring a high school staff convention in the District... it remains for the ingenuity of the International Students' Society to crash through with a "jig-saw puzzle party"... so the "Penneria" palace on the Avenue is drawing faculty and students... myohmy, what a little thing like a depression can do... University paymaster's office comes through for a bouquet by accepting out-of-town checks and issuing receipts upon their acceptance... it has been suggested that a supply of soap and towels be distributed in washrooms in campus buildings... might be a pretty good idea... (few things are more annoying than dashing about with dripping wet hands and finding the towel supply has been depleted)... looks like the G. W. football bruisers are getting off to a good start... everything being primed for a big season...

CHIPS

Merry Spring, folks! 'Tis written that this day we enter the vernal equinox, and if old saying are true, the young bucks' thoughts will turn to items which the female element has been perusing all year—primroses, moons, mush, etc. The honorable Rollo's birthday celebration (one of these surprise affairs) was marred only by the campus dilettante, Potter, trumping his partner's ace, Play Boy Schoenfelder blowing on the ladies' necks, tck! tck! and Editor Madigan searching for questionable pictures in the available literature (with success). Detwiler entered O'Keefe's class when he developed a fine case of the gout. He got over it, however, without moving in the Mayflower. Nertz, Betty with a capital B—Poor letter and like excuse—Sulphur and molasses is a good cure for that case of "gimmes." The letter was private; please consult writer next time before giving its contents to Dille. Madame Bell, sassy editor, has started recultivation of that upper lip since initiation. We might suggest rotation of crops to insure a more luxuriant growth. Making goo-goo eyes at Clara Critchfield won't be so pressing in the future to DeWitt Bennett that he has to park his car in the middle of the street—Thanks to the Met. Police. Camanta finally gave that alluring blonde her campus big shot debut after keeping her on cold storage for over a semester. Madigan—"Coon, how do you spell caesarian operation?" Betty—"As if I should know." What, no women with pants? There is something Betty Rollo might try, then we could recognize her. Sherry loses weight, the Kappas lose prestige, but tuition is still 8 slugs per. Bull-etin: "The part of Don Juan, the gray Spanish rake, will be taken by Grant Van Demark, who is expected to make the character a typical one as only Grant can do." Phi Mu might try grooming some home talent so the good women won't have to argue about electing a transfer for president next year. Some more fan mail:

Dear Dick:

I am a sophomore and an ardent Chips fan. I think your column is very good, but I don't understand some things in it.

If this Betty Rollo is so clever and wants to see the Barbs get a square deal, why is it she has never tried to make the grade like Detwiler, Eller, Leo David, and "Soup" Starr?

Is it true that you always date Chi Oh's, and why? Do you really dislike Kappa? I hope not, because I am a Kappa.

I am not as good a poet as May Bell, but here is something I hope you have room to print:

Here's to Dick
Who writes Chips
Makes the big shots sick
And causes Sherry to watch her hips
And all the rest to watch their slips.

I would also like to become a newspaper woman. How would you advise me to go about it?

Anxiously yours,

JUNE BELL.

P. S.—I have a moustache. Do you mind?

Dear June Bell:

It must be Dean Doyle's fault that you are a sophomore, or shall we say that scorching course in Rhetoric?

Your question about Betty Rollo is a pertinent one in what the editors are pleased to call their minds, but undoubtedly the anonymous darling of the Publications Office could give you a much better reason than we befuddled misfits.

You ask me why I date Chi Oh's. Gracious, can't we girls have some secrets of our own? Do I dislike Kappa? No, Kappas.

If you wish to become a newspaper woman, please, please don't write any more "poetry."

ADVISEABLE ROLLO.

P. S.—Don't mind the moustache. Our sassy editor seems to get along very well with this alleged handicap.

To prove that even Hatchet editors have weak moments, Fesler suggests a Great Falls picnic to replace the University carnival—Just have a flight of fancy and imagine it—Great Falls Reduced to Ashes as 6,000 Students Cavort (that's puttin' it mild) at Annual Picnic—Oh, my!—Oh, my!—Oh, me! At revoir and pleasant dreams.

DICK ROLLO.

Glee Club Entertains At State Society Ball

The George Washington University Men's Glee Club sang before the Massachusetts State Society ball at the Shoreham Hotel on Thursday evening, March 16.

Under the direction of Dr. Robert Howe Harmon and accompanied by Mrs. Harmon, the group sang: "The Long Day Closes," "Old Man River," "Home on the Range," "Merry Frogs," and "Old King Cole," finishing with the "Buff and Blue."

A full program by the men's and women's clubs will be given on March 23, at the United Brethren Church. In addition, the members of the men's club will sing on Sunday, March 26, at the Arlington Hall School, where they will be entertained at tea.

Vocational Choice Problem Subject of Chapel Talk

Miss Dorothy Poore, placement secretary of the University, discussed vocational guidance problems before the freshman women's assembly last Wednesday.

The great need for deciding upon one's vocation early in the college career was emphasized by Miss Poore. "Many students receive a degree and then ask, 'Now what shall I do with it?'"

Dr. Maurice Hall Speaks Before Medical Society

Dr. Maurice C. Hall, chief of the zoology division of the Bureau of Animal Industry of the United States Department of Agriculture, was the guest speaker at a meeting of the Smith-Reed-Russell Medical Society last Thursday.

"Draena Anthelmintia" was the subject of Dr. Hall's lecture, and was the fifth in a series of talks given before the society.

Modern Spain Subject Of Ruth Allen's Talk

"Spain of Today" was the topic informally discussed by Ruth Joyce Allen, of the State Department, at the March speaker meeting of Phi Pi Epsilon, foreign service fraternity for women, last Tuesday evening.

Miss Allen has just returned from Spain, where she was a member of the staff of the American delegation to the International Radiotelegraph Conference.

Margaret Liebler, secretary of Phi Pi Epsilon, will give an economic and political report on Australia at the meeting of the fraternity to be held tonight at the Kappa Delta House.

DR. BARTSCH SATISFIED WITH SEA RESEARCH EXPEDITION, HE SAYS

pointed out on his chart, showing ocean soundings, the deepest point 4,400 fathoms. Previously the depth of this particular spot had been sounded 4,662 fathoms. Because of the greater accuracy of the instruments now used, he is of the opinion that his calculation is more correct.

This apparatus consists of an oscillator, a round piece of metal 3-4 of an inch thick, which sends vibrations to the bottom of the ocean. The return of the sound, or the echo, can be instantly detected by using ear phones connected to powerful microphones on the bow of the ship. With a stop watch, and knowing how far sound travels per second in the water, one can calculate the depth.

One room at the museum has been given over entirely to some of the specimens Dr. Bartsch brought back with him. From one of the hundreds of alcohol-filled bottles, Dr. Bartsch lifted a helioid-shaped mass of gray about three inches in diameter, and said, "This is a real find, Pleurotomaria quoyi. There are only four living species in this genus—two in the west Pacific and two in the West Indies."

Some of the most striking things he had in the room were huge colorful bouquets of specimens of sea lilies, in reality not plants, though similar, but relatives of the sea urchins and star fishes.

As for fish stories, Dr. Bartsch comes with a new one, claiming that the expedition caught 40 sharks on a single baited hook at one time. His explanation is that after landing the 11-foot 6-inch shark, they performed a Caesarian operation and found 39 babies within.

"War debts originally did not represent transfers of money but credit set up in the United States for the Allies," stated Dr. William Crane Johnstone, of the political science department, in discussing the war debts problem before guests and members of International Relations Club last Wednesday evening.

It was pointed out by Prof. Johnstone that a major portion of the seven billion dollars loaned by the United States to the Allies remained in this country and went to the American merchants for supplies purchased by the foreign countries.

After College WHAT?

Insurance?

Julian S. Myrick, famous New York general agent, says: "Selling life insurance is the best paid hard work there is. No capital required other than a good character, an active mind and perseverance. Any young man with these qualifications will find a great future in insurance."

NO OTHER BUSINESS offers greater rewards for hard work. But insurance offers some pretty tough problems. Perhaps that explains why in this business, as in college, a pipe is the most popular smoke.

While you "crum" for that exam... or later when you figure out the best way to sell a $100,000 policy, just light up a pipeful of Edgeworth Smoking Tobacco.

Edgeworth is the favorite college smoke.* And only in Edgeworth can you find that distinctive blend of fine old burley tobacco. If you would like to try before you buy, just write Larus & Bro. Co., 109 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va., for a free sample package.

*A recent investigation showed Edgeworth the favorite smoke at 42 out of 64 leading colleges.

Navy, Colonial Rifle Teams, Chief Rivals In Intercollegiates

Middle Atlantic Division Final to Be Shot Saturday at Naval Academy

George Washington's crack rifle team, leading contender for the intercollegiate rifle crown, shoots in the sixth annual shoulder-to-shoulder regional match for the N. R. A. intercollegiate championship at Annapolis next Saturday. The shoot will be fired over the range of the U. S. Naval Academy.

Similar matches will be held Saturday in six cities throughout the United States. There will be no finals, the title going to the highest scorer of the sectional winners.

The Navy, intercollegiate champions, having been outshot last week by the Colonials, are expected to have a hard fight to retain their crown. Competition runs higher this week since both the Colonials and the Sailors ended their telegraphic schedule for the season by winning. The Buff and Blue riflemen downed Johns Hopkins, V. M. I., and Maryland, while the experienced Tars easily sank N. Y. U. and W. & L.

A shoulder-to-shoulder practice match between George Washington and Maryland last Saturday ended 1,353 to 1,353.

Colonial alumni riflers shoot their annual practice shoulder-to-shoulder engagement against their younger G. W. brothers next Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. on the local range. The Alumni gunners, winners in every match since 1927, will be selected from a club composed of: Coach Frank Parsons, William Lane, Harry Parsons, Ted Harold, Walter Stokes, U. Reiley, Thad Reiley, Robert Leighy, John Schriker, Baxter Smith, and others.

Baseball Aspirants Get Initial Outdoor Drill Under Morris

Large Squad Receives Workout at Batting and Fielding Positions

With "Ol' Sol" beaming brightly from the skies and a period of warm weather resulting, Coach Ed Morris was able to give his men their first genuine taste of baseball in the open last week at West Potomac Park. Confined to the gym until Tuesday by inclement weather, Morris lost no time in getting down to the business of batting practice for all hands. The pitchers, aided by 10 days of warming-up and testing out their "salary" wings in the gym, were able to slip 'em by the batters in the first days' workouts with considerable ease. However, by Thursday the sluggers had gotten their eyes somewhat adjusted and slammed the ball to the far reaches of the field with regularity.

Pepper drills, detailed infield practice, and plenty of work for the outfielders in the form of chasing flies batted in the hitting sessions complete the training schedule to date. Each day more men report for practice and as the squad grows Morris' problem of finding a suitable hour for his workouts becomes more difficult. Night sessions in the gym have been given up and those candidates who can practice only at night must wait until he moves the squad over to Griffith Stadium under the arc lights.

Carnegie Tech Only Defeats Rifle Team

Women's Rifle Team Bows for First Time This Season, Six Points Short

Meeting their first defeat of the season, the George Washington women's rifle team went down before the Carnegie Tech five with 486 points to the opposing team's 492. This was the first victory that Carnegie Tech has been able to claim over the G. W. women.

The scores were made as follows:

| G. W. | Carnegie Tech |
|-----------------------|-----------------------|
| Myers..... 99 | Voegtly..... 99 |
| Dillman..... 98 | Schmels..... 99 |
| Lincoln..... 97 | Gray..... 98 |
| White..... 96 | Wains..... 98 |
| Corea..... 96 | Wettach..... 98 |
| Total..... 486 | Total..... 492 |

The same scores were used in the competition against the Washington University of St. Louis, the George Washington team emerging victors by a margin of 18 points, Washington University scoring 468.

Max Rote, Ghormley Enter Intercollegiate Title Swim Tourney

Coach Al Lyman's two swimming stars, Captain Max Rote and Dyer Ghormley, will represent George Washington at the National Collegiate Athletic Association swimming meet in New Haven on Friday and Saturday of this week. Sponsored by Yale this year, the meet will bring the Colonial natators in competition with more than 100 of the finest swimmers in the country.

Although the G. W. tank squad failed to win a majority of its matches this year, Rote and Ghormley more than upheld their end of the work. The former went through the season undefeated in his specialties, the 50 and 100-yard free style events. Twice he broke the local 100-yard record and later established a new local 50-yard mark. Ghormley, holder of the D. C. A. A. U. 100-yard breast stroke mark, was defeated only once this year.

Rote is entered in the 50 and 100-yard free style events at New Haven, while his mate is listed in the 200-yard breast stroke race. Coach Lyman, himself, in 1927, was the last G. W. swimmer to enter the national collegiate meet.

The 50 and 100-yard free style trials will be swum Friday afternoon, and time trials in the 200-yard breast stroke will be Friday evening. Finals in all of the nine events will be Saturday at 8:30 p. m.

FIRST GOLF MEETING

Manager John Everett requests all candidates for the varsity golf team to report to him for a meeting tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the gym. Everett wishes to organize the squad as quickly as possible with the advent of warm weather. Max Farrington, coach of the team, has nearly completed the schedule for this season.

45 Spring Gridders Battle for Regular Berths on Varsity

Daily Drills at Tidal Basin Already Invaded by Keen Competition

With the spirit of competition for regular positions already the paramount feature of practice sessions, the Colonial spring football season, begun Wednesday, indicates an almost unbelievable wealth of material will be at hand when the big games roll around next fall.

Twenty of the 45 reporting were backfield candidates and here the fight for positions should produce some of the greatest backs Washington has ever seen. The chief problem of Coaches Jim Pixlee and Len Walsh is to uncover a pair of ends and a couple of reserves to fill the shoes of Chambers, Mulvey and Galloway, who graduate in June.

In addition to the scramble for backfield berths, about which practically nothing can be said as to the most likely regulars, the keenest competition will be for the center position, with four men interested in getting Senior Blackstone's old job. The tackles and guards appear to be amply strong and the team as a whole is heavier than in past seasons. The additional weight will be a big factor in the Tennessee and North Dakota frays, since both of these teams are well fortified with big linemen and hard running backs.

There has been no scrimmage on the daily program at the Tidal Basin, but the first clashes will be tomorrow.

Coach Ed Morris Urges New Candidates to Report

Coach Ed Morris, of the baseball team, urges any men interested in still trying out for the squad to report to Max Farrington, fill out a data card, and turn out for practice immediately.

in League A. Though total pinfall is supposed to decide in case of tie, faulty pinfall records will probably cause Phi Sig and T. U. O. to roll off this week for the league title.

The Delt pinmen swept all three games from their opponents in their final effort and, featuring Woodward's 343 set, ran up a pinfall lead of 93 pins. Like a mighty wave, Phi Sig bowlers broke against T. U. O. and all but swept the three games needed to clinch the title, winning two and dropping the third by a close margin. With his teammates rolling in a mediocre manner, Hill of T. U. O. took matters into his own hands, and with a splendid 180 enabled his team to win the third game and stem the tide.

Kappa Sigma took Sigma Nu for two games to finish in a third place tie in League A. A 1551 count for the match placed Kappa Sig high in total pinfall average. Acacia and S. P. E. likewise tied for third place in League B. A two-games win by Sig Ep bowlers pulled them to even terms. The cellar championship battle of League B was won by K. A., when they dropped two games to Theta Delt, one game by a single pin, while Sigma Chi gained the dubious honor in League A by resting on their previous laurels and saving their shekels.

SAWING A WOMAN IN HALF

ILLUSION:
A large packing case is exhibited on a raised platform. A young woman climbs into the box. Head, hands and feet protrude, and are held by spectators while the magician takes a crosscut saw and, with the help of an assistant, saws through the center of the box and apparently through the woman.

EXPLANATION:
There are many explanations for this illusion. One method of performing this illusion requires the presence of two girls in the box. One girl curls up in the left half of the box with her head and hands protruding, giving the effect you see illustrated above. The other girl is doubled up in the right half of the box, with only her feet showing. Nobody is sawed in half.

It's fun to be fooled —
...it's more fun to KNOW

Cigarette advertising, too, has its tricks. Consider the illusion that "Flavor" can be achieved by some kind of magical hocus-pocus in manufacturing.

EXPLANATION: Just three factors control the flavor of a cigarette. The addition of artificial flavoring. The blending of various tobaccos. And the quality of the tobaccos themselves. Quality is by far the most important. Domestic cigarette tobaccos vary in price from 5¢ a pound up to 40¢ a pound. Imported tobaccos vary from 50¢ a pound to $1.15.

No wonder, then, that cigarettes differ in taste—since distinctive, pleasing flavor depends so largely upon the blending of the costlier tobaccos.

It is a fact, well known by leaf tobacco experts, that Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

Try Camels. Give your taste a chance to sense the subtle difference that lies in costlier tobaccos... a difference that means all the world in smoking pleasure... in pure, unalloyed satisfaction.

Squared Circle To Hold All-University Boxing Tournament

Harry Kleiman, leader of the Squared Circle, has been busily engaged in instructing his Saturday morning class of new boxers. Hoping to have his charges make a respectable showing in the all-University tournament which he is arranging to begin around April 1, the youthful mentor is speeding up his work in each drill.

At present his work consists mainly in teaching defensive tactics and the use of the left hand offensive and defensive positions. The feature of last week's workout, however, was a fast 3-round tilt between Walter Slaird and Gerald Conn. Both big men, Slaird weighing 210 and Conn 198, moved around with plenty of speed considering their weight and size.

Carolina and Georgia, but many students were also supported by such promoters of public welfare as the Ladies of the Darlington Farm Benevolent Society, who were guiding the destinies of one Brother Gibbs. One of their letters reads in part:

"It has been said that he scarcely recited a Greek lesson during the last term, though Greek was on his regular lessons. That he is deeply in love and actually spends most of his time with the object of his affection. That he has become disaffected with Brother Conula so that he will not speak to him."

The total cost of attending the College was $120 a year and the College contracted with families in the neighborhood of the school for board, room and laundry for the men at $2.50 a week.

With such financial difficulties always pressing the faculty were often allowed to go unpaid, and at one time several insurgent professors obtained a lien on the library in consideration for back salaries.
